Officials estimate that a third to half of the workforce in Kansas could be affected by pandemic influenza or off work for weeks at a time if government officials were to effectively shut down commercial operations as a part of pandemic influenza community containment efforts. This symposium will provide examples of how to plan to keep your business going during a pandemic, including what role your business might have during a pandemic and what role it might play in minimizing the impact locally.

Speakers include: Dr. Howard Rodenberg, MD, MPH – Director, Division of Health, KDHE
Mike Doble, Raytheon Corporation
Terry Bieberly, TelCove of Wichita (disaster recovery/business continuity)
